

The Society recognises that a safe and healthy environment for Society volunteers and members of the public engaging in Society activities is essential. The Society is committed to ensuring that appropriate health and safety standards are understood by its volunteers and kept up-to-date.

To achieve this, we will ensure that health and safety is integrated with the other core management functions and that all our volunteers are equipped with the necessary information, instructions, training and supervision to carry out their responsibilities. Safety performance is monitored by means of regular inspections and audits which contribute to the review and development of this Policy.
